

Blood donation camps

Blood donation is an active way of helping society as blood cannot be manufactured despite advanced medical technologies but is replaced in the body within 30 to 40 days. We believe that it is the moral responsibility of all healthy people to donate blood.

The Walsons Group & Securitas in association with The Red Cross organized Blood Donation Camps as a part of Social Responsibility. This initiative saw participation of a lot of enthusiastic employees who came forward to donate blood voluntarily. The overwhelming employee response and criticality of the cause has motivated us to remain committed to this initiative in times ahead by making it a regular feature of our 'calendar of activities'.
