

2nd
National Conference - 2007
YOUTH FOR SAFE INDIA

26 - 27 November 2007

PHD House, New Delhi

The 2nd National Conference on Youth for Safe India 2007, which was jointly organized by the Central Association of Private Security Industry (CAPSI) and the Association of Private Detectives and Investigators (APDI) was held at PHD Chambers New Delhi on 26th and 27th November 2007. It was widely attended by delegates from across the country and had the presence of foreign visitors from the US, UK, Israel and Singapore, who also made presentations during the conference.

Union Minister of Home Affairs

Shivraj V. Patil inaugurated the Conference and gave a very meaningful and encouraging address to the audience. Though his speech was brief since he had to leave early to attend Parliament in session, Patil reiterated the support he had promised to the security industry year earlier, at this very forum.

Patil clearly enjoys the trust of the Industry since he has lived up to his word given to them from time to time, on the apprehensions they harboured after the passing of the Private Security Agencies (Regulation) Act 2005 (PSAR Act).

During the First National Conference in 2006, he had clarified several issues that the Industry was not comfortable with and had promised to look into the possibilities of co-opting private investigating agencies within the new regulatory framework for them, which was then in the pipeline.

The depth to which he was to live up to his word became clear only when the Private Detective Agencies (Regulation) Bill 2007 (PDAR Bill) was introduced.
